FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

1. When will I receive my ORDER?
These bulbs will be shipped after April 15 - just in time for planting.

2. When should I plant these BULBS & PLANTS?
These varieties should be planted in the spring so you have summer blooms.

3. Where should I plant these BULBS & PLANTS?
These varieties should be planted in well-draining soil. You can amend your current soil with sand, mulch and peat to improve drainage. You can plant them directly in the ground or in containers. Make sure you choose containers with drainage holes and no saucers.

4. How should I store my BULBS & PLANTS?
Open up the boxes and lift the product out a bit so that air can circulate around the packages. If you're not going to be planting your varieties right away please store the packages in a cool, dry, well ventilated location. A darkened garage of about 7°C is ideal. For the potted fruit - bring them out of the box and into a bright area and place saucers under them, then give the pots a good soaking to get them started growing.

5. My plants and bulbs have a bit of mould. Are they o.k.?
In shipping, the packaging of product doesn't always allow air to circulate and your product may arrive with a bit of surface mould. If this is the case, the surface mould can be brushed off and the bulb/root still planted. Your bulb/root should feel firm to the gentle touch but not mushy. If by chance the bulb/root is mushy or easily falls apart in your hand please contact customer service.

6. Will this product grow in my zone?
We make it easy and choose selections suitable for growing in Canadian gardens. The specific zone hardiness is noted for each variety in our shop website.

For best results follow planting instructions on the packaging!
